

I spend 12 weeks working at Frontware International and I can tell that I will get many things from it. First, I think that I have more learn working here for three months than in a school for a year! This is maybe the best experience that one can dream of to understand and improve his IT skills.

Everyone works hard and do it's best, you can ask help to anyone (even when they do not work on the same project) Mr. Eric always enjoy new idea and meaningful conversation, Areerat seems to be a mother of ten programmers and is always lively...

Among all you will discover one stand out: Thailand, this is a country with lots of different cultures and maybe as far as the European one than possible. Don't get disturb, accept it, and it will always welcome you. Keep your eyes open and stay amazed by all thing, You can only learn from such things.

Thank you all a lot.
