I want to thanks a lot mr. Fairon for giving me the possibility to come and experience 10 weeks of work in his company. My internship in Frontware has been my first professional experience. I learned a lot in a small amount of time concerning habits to have in a company or concerning the various language that the company is using. However i find unfortunate that the differents employees didn't show us how the application in which we were working so we could be more efficient.
